

DataPath offers health benefits card

□ Little Rock-based DataPath has introduced a new employee health benefits card platform, myResourceCard, a way to dispense funds directly from a flexible spending account or health care reimbursement account.

With this system, employees can avoid the hassles of out-of-pocket health care expenses. Employers can reduce their risk by setting limits for each employee's account. The platform's integration of the card with the administration system enhances efficiency.

DataPath plans to implement myResourceCard on a trial basis this fall and offer it permanently starting Jan. 1. For more information, visit this Web site: <http://www.myresourcecard.com>.

Founded in 1984, DataPath produces software for administering employee benefit plans.